Dear Walnut Hill,

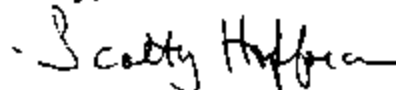

Our family has a condo in Vermont on Bromley Mountain. We love having a fire in the fire place, but it's a constant task keeping the fire going strong. Without a nice hot fire, we felt that more heat was going up the chimney then the fire was adding to the room. As the fire burned, someone would have to re-position the logs to keep it hot.

Last year I saw an article in the Litchfield County Times, about your "Wall of Fire" fireplace grate. We purchased one, and it's everything the article said it would be. We build a small fire of kindling wood, and add a log or two. The fire just keeps burning, throwing heat into the room. Every hour or two we add a log or two. That's it. Even when we really pile the logs up before bed, the fire doesn't get too big , it just feeds itself all night long, and in the morning, (if we don't sleep too late) there are a nice pile of coals, and we just add another log.

My parents-in-law liked it so much they have asked for one for Christmas. We are sure that they will enjoy it as much at their house as we all do in Vermont.

Thank you for a wonderful product.

Sincerely,

Scotty Hoffman
