I must say the Grate wall of fire is all you say it is! Even with my marginally seasoned firewood, the Grate performed wonderfully! Once that bed of embers is established, you really do get a nice, controlled burn that only requires it's owner to replenish a log once an hour or so. The amount of heat thrown into the room was impressive. I was able to sit back and relax, rather than constantly stoke the fire like I did with the old grate heater. I woke up this morning to a neat pile of ashes. No half-burned log laying there!

I guess this turned into a long-winded letter, but I wanted you folks to know how happy the wife and I are with our Grate Wall of Fire. We are looking forward to showing off how well it works with family and friends, and I will recommend it highly to anyone looking for a replacement grate in the future.

Thanks for building such a great product!
