Dear Jesse:

On February 24, 2001 Casey and I purchased one of your "Wall of Fire Grates". As usual, I was somewhat skeptical about whether or not this "newfangled" product would work. That night my husband and I decided to try out this grate in our fireplace using some wood we had in the garage for the last eight years. We had been very unhappy with the performance of our fireplace over the years and hardly ever used it. Well, we stacked the logs in the grate, lit the fire and in about 45 minutes were pleasantly surprised at the amount of heat and lack of smoke the fireplace grate provided. We have NEVER gotten this kind of heat out of our fireplace in the nine years we have lived there; and, yes it is true that you do not need to get up every few minutes to poke at the fire because as it burns down the logs drop down and create a nice hot coal bed.

Needless to say, we have lit a fire almost every night since then and are really enjoying finally getting some heat benefit from it.

Thanks again for creating this product -its the best thing I have purchased in quite a while that was definitely worth every penny I paid for it.

Very truly yours,

Casey and Susan McKenna
