Hi again, received the grate on the Thursday before Christmas and insisted that my wife open it that night. We tried it that night and had no significant smoke in the house and no soot accumulation on the front of the fireplace. Have used it almost every day since then and the story remains the same. Before, we almost always got an extensive smell of smoke in the house and extensive soot on the front of the fireplace, both of which pretty much discouraged the use of the fireplace. Since my wife's main criterion for buying a house is that it have a working fireplace, that was not a good thing. I was skeptical that a mere grate could fix the problem, but it does, and I'm glad to have that problem behind us. Once again, thanks.
